

Absolutely nothing

Sitting around, anger inside
Fingers typing up words, tryna revive something that died
Maybe you and I lost each other
Or maybe you just chose to settle with another

Friend, oh friend,
It must mean a thing or two
Couldn't pass that seven year mark though, not you
Everything we've been through together
I pour myself another glass, I know this will change

Nothing, absolutely nothing

Oh nothing, absolutely

Maybe this time around, maybe this one
Will open your eyes and thaw your insides
But oh no, I don't think that yet another letter
Can make this situation any kind of better

Oh what a shame, I've been calling your name
I've been fighting so hard, you've been playing a game
And it's hard to admit that you don't give a shit
But you don't, now I know, tables turn and you'll get

Nothing, absolutely nothing

Oh nothing, absolutely nothing

I miss you
Why don't you come to me?

You never came to me

All these years

Best friends, we were family

I don't know what to do

What are you waiting for?

What's the point of this?

Why did you give up?

Is this gonna change anything?

yan