

All I ever seem to do is wrong you
Always gonna be the one to blame
Never heeding those who don't conform to Your ideals, or the world you know
I am here, and I'll say it loud and clear
In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I brave the field and cross it to your door
In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I won't be feeling guilty anymore.

Cant' you see that I'm not here to serve you?
Can't you see that I am here for me?
Lose your mind whenever I defy you
I am not the child who lived in fear
I held back, but I won't be there for the next attack

In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I strip my pride and leave it by your door
In your line of fire, in your line of fire,
I won't be holding tears back anymore

And I know that blood will tie us together forever, I know
But I can decide who gets to stay in my life, and guess what, you're not one of them.

In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I brave the field and cross it to your door
In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I won't be feeling guilty anymore.
In your line of fire, in your line of fire
I strip my pride and leave it by your door
In your line of fire, in your line of fire,
I won't be holding tears back anymore.

Guilty